Do I Need the Digital or Online Version?

Please note: AIS monitors for unlicensed use of its copyrighted data and is aggressive in its pursuit of individuals and organizations that violate its copyright. That being said, the database is designed to be no-fuss, open and accessible to licensed users. If you have any questions about whether your intended use of the AIS data is covered by your license, please contact sales@aishealth.com.

I am the only individual who will be viewing or working with this data and will install it on one or two single workstations or devices that only I can access.	Digital
I am purchasing the data exclusively for my own work, but I may ask an information systems professional for assistance in technical matters regarding use of this data.	Digital
I am purchasing the data exclusively for my own projects, but I will delegate some functions of data processing, analysis and/or presentation to one or more team members and they will each have access to some or all of the data.	Online
I am purchasing the data, but will be installing the data on one workstation in our organization that is used by another person; I will notify AIS the name of the licensed user for product support.	Digital
I am purchasing the data for installation on one workstation, which may be accessed by multiple people in my organization, one at a time, as a library. I will be the user with access to support.	Digital
I intend to be the sole user of this data, but I will load the data onto my company's local network server in a place where it may potentially be accessed by other employees in my organization.	Online
I intend to share or distribute some portions of the data among employees in my department, who will each use the data for separate projects or to serve separate clients.	Online
I intend to share or distribute the data outside of my own department to be utilized by my company's sales force or other employees for use in their own work.	Online
I will use the data to create reports and analyses to present at internal meetings inside my company. Any resulting reports that contain AIS data will be distributed in PDF, PowerPoint or narrative format where any AIS data are displayed in selected portions, in a specific context, or in aggregate format. I will not distribute any Excel worksheets or other data files to other members of my organization, outside of my organization, or to clients.	Digital
I will use the data to create presentations or reports for one or more current or potential clients or business partners outside of my organization.	Online
I will use the data to create contact lists or mailing lists for a sales force of two or more people in my organization, and they will each have access to the portions of the data assigned or distributed to them for use in their own work.	Online
I will be the only individual working with the data, but I will be using the contact information to reach out to the listed organizations for business or marketing reasons that benefit my organization.	Digital
I am the only individual working with the data, but I would value extra state-level breakdowns, an online search engine, newsfeed and access to AIS researchers for advice.	Online
My company is in the business of publishing or distributing a list/database of organizations/members/customers that overlaps or is related to the AIS records, and I want to link the two databases. My company may or may not charge a fee for viewing of its lists, may or may not limit accessibility to the lists, and may or may not include any AIS data or links in the distributed or published results.	Contact us to work out a customized, reciprocal agreement for our mutual protection/benefit.

Basically, if any portion of the AIS data will be

- Accessed/handled/manipulated/analyzed by two or more employees of your organization;
- Shared electronically with two or more employees of your organization; or
- Shared with any clients, consultants or other persons outside of your own organization;
- The Online product is required to protect you and allow AIS to provide support.

Please note: AIS understands that our clients have varying business models and each has a unique reason for using the AIS data to enhance its work. Our account executives are authorized to work with you on pricing that is fair and reflects your actual usage, and customized licenses are possible. Please email sales@aishealth.com if you have any questions about your license or the manner in which you use the data.

Text of the Digital License

For your reference, the full text of the single-user license is below. If you have any questions about whether your intended use of the AIS data is covered by your license, please email sales@aishealth.com.

SINGLE-USER LICENSE AGREEMENT

AIS's Directory of Health Plans ("the Product")

AIS grants to you the non-exclusive, limited right to use the Product to the extent provided in this paragraph. You may install the Product, in any format, on a single, individual workstation in your company, on a disk drive that is not accessible to other employees via a network. The data is licensed for analysis by one employee at your company.

That employee may combine this raw data with other available database applications, may create reports or analysis from the data, and may prepare mail-merge promotional pieces from the data. The employee may distribute these resulting documents in a limited manner, in paper or PDF format, that ensures the raw data cannot be accessed or manipulated by other employees via a network or other electronic means.

You may not copy, install, make available or otherwise use the Product on the Internet or the World Wide Web. This database may not be resold, licensed, or leased to another party. Publication of this data for sale or distribution outside of your own company is prohibited.

Customer understands and agrees that the Product consists of intellectual property belonging to AIS and that the Product is protected by copyright and may be subject to trademark and other laws. Customer agrees not to make any use of the Product not specifically authorized by this License Agreement or by the copyright laws of the United States.

It is your responsibility to make certain that no unlicensed users obtain access to the Product, and you are responsible for ensuring that each licensed user understands and abides by the terms and conditions of this License Agreement.

Subject to these limitations, the user may use the Product in any manner you deem helpful in connection with your business, including by printing paper copies of all or portions of the Product, but in all cases only for internal use within your company. You may not transfer this license to anyone without AIS's written permission. Your use of this information is subject to all the terms and conditions of this License Agreement.

To upgrade to the Online Product License that will provide you with the right to share access and files among other members of your organization, please contact sales@aisheath.com.
